From the Director's Desk: Where Do You Want to Go Today?

One of the things I love about the library is that you never know where it may take you!

Last month I borrowed the DVD Come Live with Me, a 1941 romantic comedy starring Hedy Lamarr and Jimmy Stewart. My wife and I enjoyed this movie and I did some research on it.

I learned that Hedy Lamarr, just like the character she portrays in the movie, was an Austrian who had immigrated to the United States. I also learned that she had an acute interest in mathematics and technology.

When Hedy Lamarr wasn't making movies she was inventing and thinking. Her most significant idea was frequency hopping. In 1941, torpedoes were guided by radio signals. One way to detect and destroy a torpedo was to identify and disrupt the guiding radio signal. To jam the radio signals used by torpedoes Hedy developed and patented the idea of simultaneously changing radio frequencies – frequency hopping. This idea was a precursor to wireless technology that is used today in phones, remote controls, and computers.

I was also curious about the title of this movie. Originally, I thought the title might be a slight social commentary on the morality of an unmarried man and woman living together. In the movie Hedy Lamarr is having an affair with a married man and they are considering living together.

In the last scenes of the movie Jimmy Stewart's character reveals the significance of the phrase Come Live with Me. It is from the first verse of The Passionate Shepherd to His Love, a poem by 16th century poet and playwright Christopher Marlowe.

"COME live with me and be my Love,
And we will all the pleasures prove
That hills and valleys, dale and field,
And all the craggy mountains yield."

At the library I discovered a new favorite movie, learned about torpedoes and wireless technology, and found a wonderful 16th century poem. I love being a librarian.

The Muslim Journeys Bookshelf Grant

The Jefferson Township Library was one of 842 libraries and state humanities councils in the nation to receive the Muslim Journeys Bookshelf, a project of the National Endowment for the Humanities Bridging Cultures initiative. The Bookshelf consists of twenty-five books and three DVDs with public performance rights, along with bookmarks, bookplates and posters.

Support for the Bridging Cultures Bookshelf: Muslim Journeys was provided by a grant from Carnegie Corporation of New York. Additional support for the arts and media components was provided by the Doris Duke Foundation for Islamic Art.

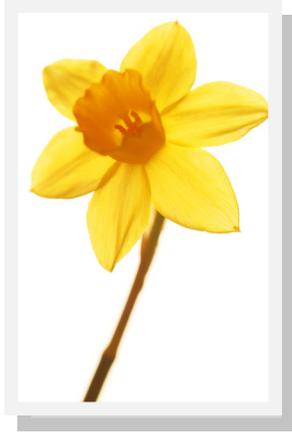

The books have been organized into five themes: American Stories; Connected Histories; Literary Reflections; Pathways of Faith; and Points of View. Three programs focusing on one or more of these themes will take place at the library with the goal of promoting community discussion and building bridges among diverse cultures and faiths.

The first scheduled program, Way of Joy and Devotion with Rumi, Poet & Mystic, takes place on Wednesday, April 10 at 1 PM. Guest speaker Jessica Morris, meditation practitioner and teacher, will read selected poems of Rumi and talk about his life and influence.

I Wandered Lonely As a Cloud

Read a poem!
April is National Poetry Month.

I WANDERED lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
The stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced; but they
Outdid the sparkling waves in glee;
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company;
I gazed -- and gazed -- but little thought
What wealth to me the show had brought:

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

The Lower River
by Paul Theroux

Editor's Choice: What I'm Reading Now

I've got two other books going, but when I picked up The Lower River by Paul Theroux and read the first paragraph, I was hooked.

Ellis Hock gets a smart phone from his wife for his birthday. He doesn't really want it, even though his wife tells him it is going to change his life. "Hock smiled because he was turning sixty-two, not an age of life-altering shocks but only of subtle diminishments." His wife keeps the phone, registers it under his email, and somehow receives all Hock's emails up to that date, revealing his private life to her, a life that includes relationships with other women. Now he is a man with no secrets, whose marriage is ending.

He thinks back to the happiest, most unencumbered time of his life — as a Peace Corps volunteer at the Lower River in Africa — and decided to return there.

Kid's Corner

Keep the kids occupied at the library during Spring Break this year! Check out these two programs presented by Computer Explorers on Tuesday, April 2:

Moviemaking 101, from 2 to 3:30 PM. Kids (Grades 2-5) use creativity, digital cameras, software and props to create a movie.

Video Game Animation, from 4 to 5:30 PM. Kids (Grades 4-8) use animation to create characters, add sound effects and music clips to create a dynamic video animation game using Scratch, a program language created just for kids at MIT!

On Wednesday, April 3, at 11 AM, children are invited to create and build during a free play Drop In Lego event. Parental supervision is required for ages 5 and under.

Also on April 3, at 6 PM, the Traveling Lantern Theatre Company presents The Hobbit, a cherished tale of a home-loving little Hobbit who finds himself on an adventure he could never have imagined! Suitable for children of all ages!

On Thursday, April 4, at 3:30 PM, Mad Mixtures with Mad Science gives kids in Grades 1-4 a chance to work hands-on with various chemical reactions — acid/base reaction, turning liquids into solids, experiment with chemical density, and maybe even watch a total chemical melt-down.

Registration is necessary for all programs (except Drop In Lego) Visit www.jeffersonlibrary.net, or call the library to reserve your spot!
